These four students-Joan Setzer, Paul Heavilin, Francis "Bugs" williams, and Don Norton—have Churchill Receives each spent an average of six extra $1800 Scholarship hours a week besides their three class sessions in preparing for the production. This average is based For Further Study on a period of ten weeks; the class started work on the play during the first week of school.

Don and Paul did the actual contruction of the sets, and Joan and "Bugs," along with Dr. Fulsom, painted the props and added any special touches needed to complete travel, and other incidentals for the desired effect.

New Flats Made

Procedure for making a stage prop depends on the type being onstructed. Some flats used in ormer productions are used as they are, or the paint may be washed off and the desired color applied. Since "Charley's Aunt" s a three-act play, several extra flats had to be constructed.

In making a flat, the first step is o make a detailed plan. Then the frame is put together entirely with screws, light canvas is stretched over the area, and a sizing mixture is painted over the surface. After this dries, the flat is painted pecial touches are applied.

Elaborate Costumes Made

New settings made for the play are an ottoman, a large archway, flower beds, a ballistrade, and a practical wall on which one of the actors will walk. One large flat representing the wall of a living room bears a colorful border of varied sizes of diamond shapes.

Members of the advanced art class drew the plans for the elaborate seventeenth century costumes and Mrs. Theodore Palmer, local seamstress, made the clothes from the patterns. Tails were borrowed for the boys to wear in the third

Monday the play will be presented especially for the students. Tuesday a performance will be given for the general public at 8 p.m.

Notice

Members of the Freshman class will meet tomorrow at 12:30 in the auditorium to elect officers.

Officials Discuss Status of Science

Mathematics and science requirements in secondary schools need to be stiffened, according to the consensus of college and university officials who attended an area meeting in Kansas City last Wednesday.

President J. W. Jones, who met with 26 other Missouri and Kansas educators at the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce meeting in the Hotel Muehlebach, emphasized his belief that the scarcity of trained mathematicians and scientists may be due to the fact that colleges and universities are not producing teachers impressed with the desire to teach high school science.

Consequently, he believes, more high school graduates can qualify for advanced courses in mathematics and science in colleges and universities if their teachers are impressed with the importance of teaching high school so

The meeting was held in connection with two national organizations, the National Advertising Council and the Council for Financlal Aid to Education. The organizations are pushing the support of higher education in this country.

To Brighten Your Week . . .

How do college students spend Sunday afternoon and evening? Some industrious ones spend the whole time at work on lessons. Other "run around" or go to movies. And for many, the college youth group meetings at the various churches are a highlight of the week.

These meetings do not fill the whole afternoon or evening. Most of them meet at about 5:30 on Sunday evening and ad-Journ in time for the movie at 7 o'clock. Recreation facilities are provided for those who care to stay. Groups of other churches meet during the week and have similar programs.

Whether they meet on Sunday or at some time during the week, church groups provide opportunities for recreation, discussion, and worship; and some of them serve an almost free meal. What more could one ask?

They're Talking About . . .

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT . . . small slips of colored paper sent home to the folks; new resolutions consequently "decided upon" . . . long, brilliantly-lighted, cigar-shaped objects hovering over highways of the Southwest, Sputnik II and Laika (dead or alive?), a possible orbit-cruising Soviet ape, and shooting Red dye to the moon.

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT . . . "reverse psychologist" Sooner Coach Wilkinson and his famous pessimistic predictions; the result down at Columbia when those buses from Norman came to town . . . the description of 1958 automobiles: longer, wider, lower, and higher . . . Christmas advertising.

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT . . . the NWMSC football team; those times when it seems to show no interest either as the defender or the invader; then those stadium-rousing times when it mounts up AS A TEAM to play for the team, the green and white flag, and for the coach.

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT . . . Sadie Hawkins tramping out of Po'k Chop Hills Friday night for the annual Dogpatch Stomp ... Bobbie Bearcat ... study hours ... extending the normal 24-hour day to include such an unheard of phenomenon . . . flashing lights and moonlit nights and 9:55 at the Dorm-moments to remember.

Workers to Finish Repairs on Heating

Repairs on the heating system in the Administration building and on being completed, reports Mr. Lon Wilson, Dean of Men.

Because of the unexpected cavein of the south wall of the tunnel through which the steam pipes run between the Administration building and the power plant, the wall is being replaced. The size of this tunnel, about 58 inches wide by 6 feet 4 inches high, would enable a person to walk from the power plant to the main building through Originally a 6-inch steam pipe ran from the power plant through the tunnel and through the main building to heat the Quads, the Horace Mann building, the gymnasium, and the Union. A 12-inch pipe was used to heat the main building.

These two pipes are being replaced by one new 8-inch pipe. The new pipe will have about twice the pressure forced through it that was forced through either of the old

David Shelton, transfer student from Oklahoma State University, and Clifton Schmidt, a Missouri University in transfer, should round out the varsity squad. Ron Partridge has joined the squad for practice now that football season is finished.

Popping corn contains water. When the water gets hot enough, the kernel explodes. Result: popcorn.

We're not passing this information along as a public service. Actually we're up to the same old game.

You see, popcorn makes most people thirsty, Fortunately, when most people get thirsty they hanker for the good taste of Coca-Cola.

Wouldn't you like some popcorn right now? C'mon now, wouldn't you?
